

BRIAN L. ROBERTS

Chairman and CEO, Comcast Corporation

Brian L. Roberts is Chairman and CEO of Comcast Corporation, the nation's leading provider of cable, entertainment and communications products and services. Under his leadership, Comcast has grown into a Fortune 100 company with $22.3 billion in revenues, 24.1 million customers and 87,000 employees. Comcast's content networks and investments include E! Entertainment Television, Style Network, The Golf Channel, VERSUS, G4, AZN Television, PBS KIDS Sprout, TV One and four regional Comcast SportsNets. The Company also has a majority ownership in Comcast-Spectator, whose major holdings include the Philadelphia Flyers NHL hockey team, the Philadelphia 76ers NBA basketball team and two large multipurpose arenas in Philadelphia.

Mr. Roberts is serving his second consecutive term as Chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Cable & Telecommunications Association (NCTA), until 2007, after being elected Chairman in 2005. He also previously served as NCTA Chairman from 1995-1996 when the landmark deregulatory 1996 Telecommunications Act became law. Mr. Roberts also has served two terms as Chairman of CableLabs, the research and development consortium for the cable industry, from 2003-2005 and from 1999-2001.

Mr. Roberts has won numerous business and industry honors for his leadership. In October of 2006 he was inducted into the Cable Television Hall of Fame. In January of 2006, Institutional Investor magazine named him as one of America's top CEOs for the third year in a row, and also in 2006 named Comcast as one of America's most shareholder-friendly companies. In 2005, he was honored by the National Association for Multi-ethnicity in Communications (NAMIC) for his commitment to diversity in the cable industry, and by the Partnership for a Drug-Free America for Comcast's unprecedented commitment of resources to champion the PDFA's drug-free message. He also was the recipient of the 2004 Humanitarian Award from the Simon Wiesenthal Center. In 2003 Mr. Roberts was awarded the Steven J. Ross Humanitarian Award by the UJA Federation of New York. In 2002, he was honored by The Police Athletic League of Philadelphia for his commitment to youth programs and community partnerships.

Mr. Roberts is a board member of The Bank of New York. He co-chaired the 2003 Resource Development Campaign for the United Way of Southeastern Pennsylvania and was a founding co-chair of Philadelphia 2000, the nonpartisan host committee for the 2000 Republican National Convention. An All-American in squash, he earned a gold medal with the U.S. squash team in 2005 and silver medals at the 1981, 1985 and 1997 Maccabiah Games in Israel.

Mr. Roberts, 47, received his BS from the Wharton School of Finance of the University of Pennsylvania. He and his wife, Aileen, live in Philadelphia with their three children.